"What a Day for a Daydream"

Thom Storm (Sweet Lake)

What a day for a daydream
What a day for a daydreaming boy
And I'm lost in a daydream
Dreamin' 'bout my bundle of joy

In February of 1966, the Lovin' Spoonful released the song "Daydream," which peaked at number 2 on the Billboard Hot 100 chart. The song is about a young man's dreamy fantasy about new love. I was 16 at the time when the song was released. I saw the Spoonful perform Daydream during a matinee at the new Duluth Arena Auditorium, now the DECC, in the spring of 1966. It was a really fun way for a high school kid to spend a Sunday afternoon.

In March of 2023, I am having daydreams about my bundle of joy, our Sweet Lake cabin. I am daydreaming about the swallows, returning to their nesting boxes in April, and how much I enjoy watching them fly. I'm also daydreaming about the hummingbirds, returning in May, and how much I love seeing them zooming back-and-forth between the three feeders on our deck. I am also daydreaming about our young grandchildren, returning on Memorial day weekend, squealing with joy while playing in the hot tub.
